

Rubenstein, Chapter 1 "Thinking Geographically"

Issue 03 "Scale: From Local to Global"

1. How do geographers use the term globalization?
2. Discuss at least three different ways in which you experience economic globalization, and three different ways in which you experience cultural globalization in your daily life.
3. Think of the companies that have plants or retail outlets in the greater Salt Lake Area (or in Utah). Can you identify a transnational corporation?
4. Create a map of one of your class rooms, showing the arrangement of desks. Then provide each of the following:
  - a. Arithmetic density
  - b. Concentration
  - c. Pattern
5. Think of your own life, and that of a family member of the opposite gender. Analyze how gender impacts the pattern in space for each.
6. Provide four examples from your daily experience that illustrate the concept of space-time compression.
7. Provide four examples from your daily experience that illustrate the concept of distance decay.
